VOL. LX

PUBLISHED JUNE 1, 1945

Dedication

With admiration for his many superlative qualities, and with appreciation for his outstanding contributions to the success of The English High School athletic squads during the past thirteen years, the Class of 1945 dedicates its Yearbook to Mr. William H. Ohrenberger, recently promoted to the position of assistant director of physical education in the Boston Public Schools.

Graduated from The English High School in 1923, our former mentor matriculated at Boston College, where he distinguished himself in his studies as well as on the athletic field. It was but natural that after being awarded his degree in 1927, Mr. Ohrenberger should choose teaching and coaching as his vocation. At St. Thomas Aquinas High School, Jamaica Plain, and at Georgetown Preparatory School, Washington, D. C., he taught mathematics and directed the athletic program. Having secured a master's degree and having qualified for appointment as a teacher in the Boston Public Schools, he became a member of our own faculty in 1930. When Mr. D. Leo Daley, now head master of Boston Technical High School, relinquished his duties as coach of the Blue and Blue in 1932, he was succeeded by Mr. Ohrenberger.

During the years that have followed, our football, baseball, track, and hockey squads have maintained and even enhanced the famous traditions of E. H. S. athletics. Coach Ohrenberger's teams have won many City championships and several State titles, as well.

But, apart from his outstanding record as a coach, "Bill" Ohrenberger has been an incalculable influence for good in our school. His class room work has always been superior. His cheerful and capable handling of countless extracurricular assignments has done much to facilitate the administration of the largest school in Boston. Above all, the wholesome example of his splendid character has been an inspiration to every English High School boy. We congratulate him upon his well-merited promotion. We wish him happiness and success in his new position. We assure him that to the Class of 1945 and to every other member of The English High School, the name of William H. Ohrenberger will always symbolize the finest attributes of a coach, a teacher, a gentleman.

Foreword

War seemed very far away from us on that happy day in September, 1941, when we hurried forth from home in eager anticipation of registering at the English High School . . . New freedom, new responsibilities, new experiences, new associations claimed our attention all through those first thrilling weeks during which as freshmen we underwent our indoctrination course in the service and traditions of the oldest public high school in the United States. . . .

Autumn and those crisp afternoons, with early dismissal for those boys who planned to attend the football games . . . the crowds at Braves Field . . . the cheering practice in the Gym in preparation for the next game . . . the surge of satisfaction at being part of a grand school with championship athletic teams . . . the climax contest with Public Latin . . . the wonderful assembly at which the players were awarded their letters . . . and then. . . .

Pearl Harbor . . . December 7, 1941 . . . a date that will live in infamy. . . .

Things changed a good deal after our country recovered from the initial shock . . . Home life changed, too, as relatives left for training camps; as fathers grimly settled down in the war plants of Greater Boston to give the boys in the Armed Forces the tools with which to begin the job . . . At school, we had air-raid precaution, military drill with a new meaning, the V-program, and a greater emphasis on mathematics, the sciences, and the languages. . . .

Long days and nights of waiting . . . Then came military sweeps in North Africa, hard fighting for footholds in Italy and on the isles of the Pacific . . . Upperclassmen leaving school to enter the service . . . Decorations and citations as the Air Force battled for the skies over Europe, and the carrier squadrons waged a war of attrition against the fleet of Japan . . . Ocean-spanning letters from Head Master Walter F. Downey to Fighting English all over the world. . . .

D-Day in Europe . . . the prayerful solemnity that pervaded our American cities as families sought help and strength to carry on . . . The dramatic smash through France by Patton and Bradley and their fellow-commanders . . . The capture of Paris and many another enemy-held city . . . On to the Rhineland! to the heart of the Reich! to the island outposts of Japan, with American bombers over Tokyo. . . .

Senior year . . . against the backdrop of war . . . But it's a victorious war now . . . We too carry on in the victory spirit . . . Remember the Stadium game? . . . Senior prom, rings, committees, commissions in the E. H. S. regiments . . . extra-curricular activities, meetings, assemblies, and after-school jobs . . . It has been a restless year, but with victory on every breeze. . . .

There is a victory of idealism as well . . . the ideal of service to the school, the ideal of getting along together in the American way, the ideal of doing a good job for oneself and for one's instructors . . . the urge to prepare thoroughly and conscientiously for whatever is to come. . . .

It is our earnest hope that this idealism will shine forth from between the lines as we write . . . that this Yearbook will somehow reveal the true E. H. S. spirit of the Class of 1945, courageous even in those dark days of the past four years when our fellow-Americans had to fight their way through mine fields in the shadowed valleys; courageous now, as we join the onward march of our nation's manhood along the heights to Victory.

Constant as the Stars

DURING the last four years we have traveled along together, attempting many things. Some have succeeded, and others have failed; but out of these victories or defeats have come, tested in the forge of experience, ideals and attitudes that will serve us through life.

Time, in its onward sweep, is relentlessly carrying us toward a new portal that will open to us the lists of life and at the same time close upon us the period of carefree high school days. We must turn in different directions, some to enter the world of business and industry, others to continue their educational activities. All groups, however, are bound together by the strongest of ties, their loyalty to Alma Mater.

English High has not only nourished us through these formative years, not only strengthened us in mind and in body, but above all it has imbued us with its spirit—a spirit constant as the stars. This feeling has no sudden birth. It is the result of long exposure to English High aims and traditions. Through the years this loyalty has attained an almost legendary reputation. To us of English it is a source of pride; to others, a cause for wonder. Each class, as it returns year after year to renew its pledge of fealty, gives evidence of the vigor of the love that fills the heart of every English High man from his entrance as a freshman to his departure as a senior and far beyond.

Our introduction into the world of endeavor initiates us into the body of alumni whose principles become ours and whose example we cherish. The new dignity will test our worthiness to uphold the honor of our school. Whether in business or in education, the ideals of manhood must be those taught us in our youth. Conditions may differ, and no definite rule for the conduct of our classmates can be laid down; but he who follows the guidance of English High has a firm basis for future success.

As our predecessors have been models for us, so too do we become examples for those who follow. We, who have but lately learned the truth, have become teachers.

Thus it lives on, in a never-ending cycle, this elusive something with which old English endows her sons. Because of it, we will go on planning and building until the world is a better place for living, and until Honor is the goal of every man's Achievement.

Walter F. Downey, A.B., Ed.M.

Head Master

In Appreciation

THE ending of the present school year will mark the completion of Mr. Walter F. Downey's thirty-fifth year of devoted service to The English High School . . . For twenty-three of those years he has guided the destinies of the school in his position as Head Master . . .

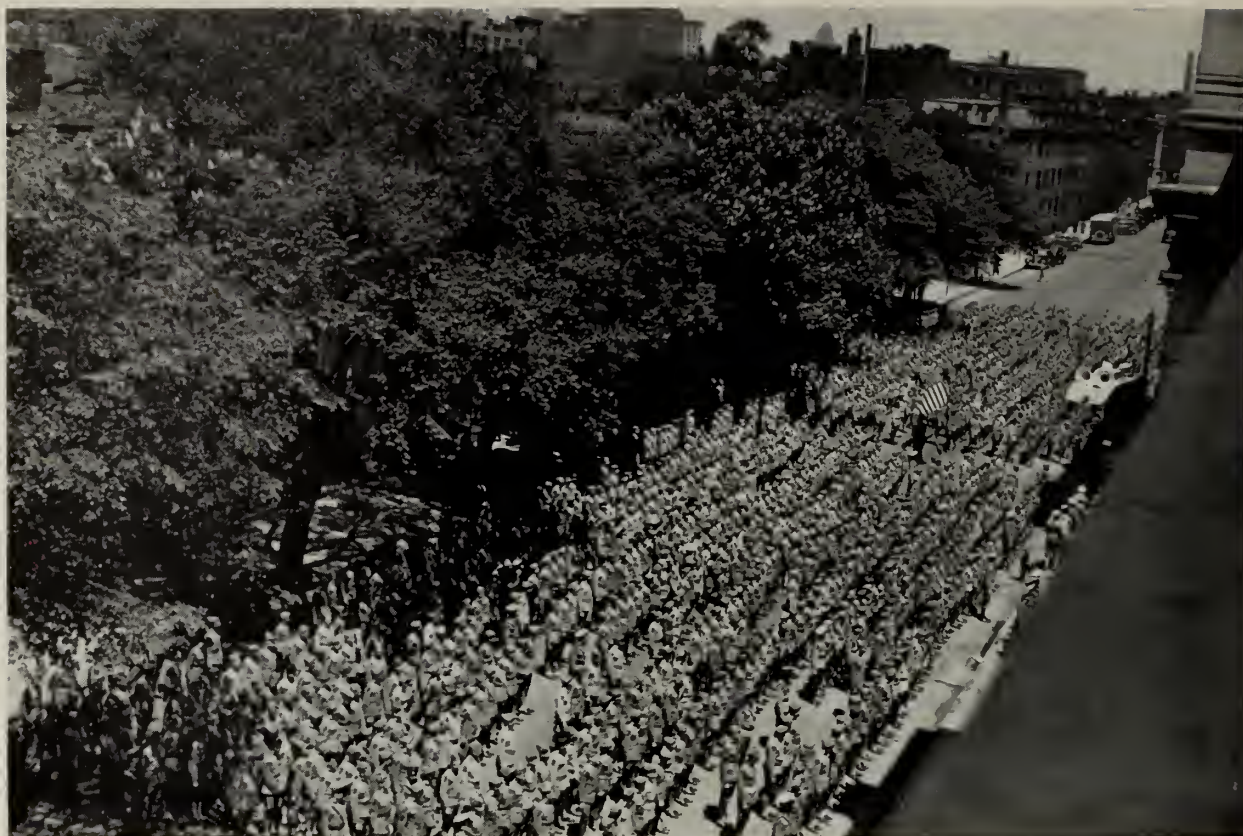

High honors, civic and professional, have come to him during his career . . . He returned to us in September, 1943, after having held the office of Commissioner of Education of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts . . . His name is known and respected throughout the entire country as being one of the most distinguished in his profession . . .

And yet, and to us this is the full measure of our Head Master's devotion to English High, even on the busiest days of the school year, at an early hour in the morning, throughout the school day, or late into the afternoon, his office door is always wide open in a welcome to the boy who would seek counsel, to the serviceman on furlough from the stark realities of war, to the parent who feels baffled by problems arising out of prevailing conditions . . .

Mr. Downey has striven masterfully to interpret for us and to us the mission of our school in the world of education, what The English High School stands for, and what it is:

Not a building broad and high,
Turrets pointing to the sky;
Not a system hard and cold;
Not a pen for sheep in fold;
But a spirit, sweet and fair,
Breathing consecrated air,
Wearing robe of spotless hue,
Bearing banner blue and blue.

The boys of the Class of 1945 respectfully pay tribute to a loyal friend, unflagging in his zeal to do everything in his power at all times to help each and every one of his boys toward the goal of honor and achievement in life.

English High School in Wartime

The school regiments are seen lined up on Warren Avenue in the annual Memorial Day observance. In the words of the English High School Memorial Tablet: "The English High School acclaim her sons who have faced death for their country in the wars of the last hundred years."

Hundreds of servicemen on furlough have visited their Alma Mater this year. Here Captain John Jones, '36, of the Army Air Force signs his name in the visitors' book. He has returned from thirty-five missions overseas, the winner of combat medals and citations.

Head Master Walter F. Downey presents the English High School Service Honor Medal to Technical Sergeant Andrew E. O'Brien, '42, AAF. Sergeant O'Brien has completed thirty bombing missions and has been awarded the Air Medal.

Backing Fighting English. War Bonds totaling $14,775 were purchased at E. H. S. during our 6th War Loan Drive, December 12, 13, and 14. The boys who are about to invest in bonds are, left to right: Howard F. King, '47; John K. Costain, '47; Henry J. Abdelmaseh, '47; and Eugene M. Rossman, '47.

Classmates:

The Class of 1945 is the fourth class to graduate while our country is engaged in World War II, a war which will determine not only our future, but indeed the fate of all mankind.

Four years ago we were bewildered strangers, merely students of the largest high school in the city; Today we are molded as one strong body, united, and unsurpassed.

We are living in an era which will be decisive not only for ourselves, but also for the whole course of world history. Economic, social and political transitions are imminent. We of the present are like swimmers caught in a whirlpool consisting of two currents, the past and the future. A great task stands before the leaders of our democracy, but an equally great task is ahead of us. The problems of reconstruction and readjustment to a new and better civilization will require our services. We who are watching the machinery of government today will be called upon to solve the problems of tomorrow.

In our hands will lie the responsibility of a cherished heritage. Let us strive to make certain that this will be a better, a happier and a healthier world.

We bid farewell to our masters who have always been helpful and sympathetic. They have not only broadened our knowledge of the classics, literature, and the sciences, but they have inspired in us a true love of learning. We shall always cherish a high regard for them. And to Mr. Downey who has always aided and assisted us, we offer our humble tribute. May he guide many more classes in years to come with his exemplary leadership.

I wish to thank you sincerely for the faith and trust you have placed in me and I hope that in the future we may again be united as we are today as an active unit within our alumni body.

This Yearbook will be a constant pride to us as the completed record of our happy days at The English High School. No matter what divergent walks of life we follow, no matter what different experiences come to us in the grim years ahead, we shall always be together in the pages of this Yearbook,

Earl M. Benson, A.B.

Master in the English Department

AT the close of this school year, Mr. Earl M. Benson, master in the English Department, will have completed his thirtieth and final year of service at English High School.

Mr. Benson is an alumnus of Wesleyan University, Class of 1906. He taught English at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, at Detroit University, and at the Fall River, Malden, and Wellesley high schools prior to coming here in 1915.

He has brought to his classes a wealth of scholarship, a hearty good humor, and a genuine interest in each and every boy. A lover of good reading, he has inspired a similar enthusiasm in all whom he has taught. He has literally guided generations of English High School boys through the treasure house of the very best and finest in literature.

In 1933, Mr. Benson secured a leave of absence and went to Europe. He stayed in London for one winter, attending London University and enjoying to the full the romantic old London of England's great writers. During the spring, he traveled in France and Italy. Then, he sojourned in the Scotland of Sir Walter Scott. In 1935, he summered in the British Isles, enjoying a bicycle tour around the coast of Ireland. All these rich experiences he shared with his subsequent classes at English High School.

On the eve of his retirement, we extend to Mr. Benson the sincere appreciation of all English High School students and alumni. May he enjoy a long and happy retirement on his farm in Maine, his hours filled with a deep satisfaction springing eternally from his accomplished tasks as a teacher, friend, and guide.

The Friends We Knew

CLASS SONG

The friends we knew,
So staunch and true,
Their faith we'll not betray;
Their comradeship
Our hearts will grip
To guide us on our way.
And if her years
Be filled with fears,
For Alma Mater pray
With all that's best
May she be blest,"
Our wish for her today.

Dear English High,
We say goodbye;
We pledge that we'll be true.
You ivied walls
And hallowed halls
Will live in mem'ry's view.
The truths you've taught
Cannot be bought;
They'll mould our will to do.
We'll lead the fight
For all that's right
With banners Blue and Blue!

BOYS OF '45

America—The Land We Love

Not long ago a young veteran who had just returned from the front greeted me down town on Summer Street. He was bronzed and physically fit. He was an E. H. S. man,—inexpressibly happy at being home again in,—as he put it—“in the good old U. S. A.”

Speaking earnestly to me, he said,—“I have just returned from Burma. The Golden Gate at San Francisco looked pure gold to me and to all the fellows with me. I never really fully appreciated my own country before. You know, I feel that it would be a wonderful thing for every American to have the experience I have had—to be away from this country for one full year. Only then could he really appreciate the United States of America—what it really means to say—‘I am an American.’”

E. H. S. boys have repeatedly said this same thing to me while visiting school after their trips to and from every part of the globe. There is no country like it anywhere. This is the direct testimony of our own boys who now have travelled far and wide.

Yes, of course, it is home, and that is everything. This means many things. I do not need to mention them, nor describe them. They are just what we consider home,—neighbors, home ways of doing things,—our family, our friends, our church, our school, our pals. To each one of us—this is America. To safeguard all of these—we fight; since they are in danger—we risk all for their protection, and preservation.

The boys of '76 won for us our right to be free and independent; the boys of '61 preserved our Union; in '17 they first went abroad as an armed force to defend our shores. Now again fellows like you are winning the victory that we see ahead. America owes everything to you, and to every member of our All-American Fighting Team.

For the first graduation since 1941 we see the dawn of victory.

God grant that it may come soon. May He grant that soon you may return to your regular normal peacetime way of living.

You are representatives of E. H. S. wherever you go. We are very proud of each one of you. Remember we share with you your sacrifices and your proud achievements.

Wherever you are, whatever you are doing, we fervently ask God to bless and protect you—every one.

The Light of the Future

By EDGAR F. NOBLE, '45

DURING the past few years at English High School, we, as young men, have witnessed the failure of the totalitarian nations to bring utter destruction and devastation on mankind. We have seen a once peaceful world inflamed by the will of a few, who would seek to destroy the very foundations of life. We have observed the desperate struggles of the Britons, the Russians, the Chinese and the other peoples of Europe and Asia against the ruthless forces of tyranny. We have seen everything in the path of the aggressor wantonly bombed and burned, until only rubble and debris served as a grim reminder to man of his former achievements.

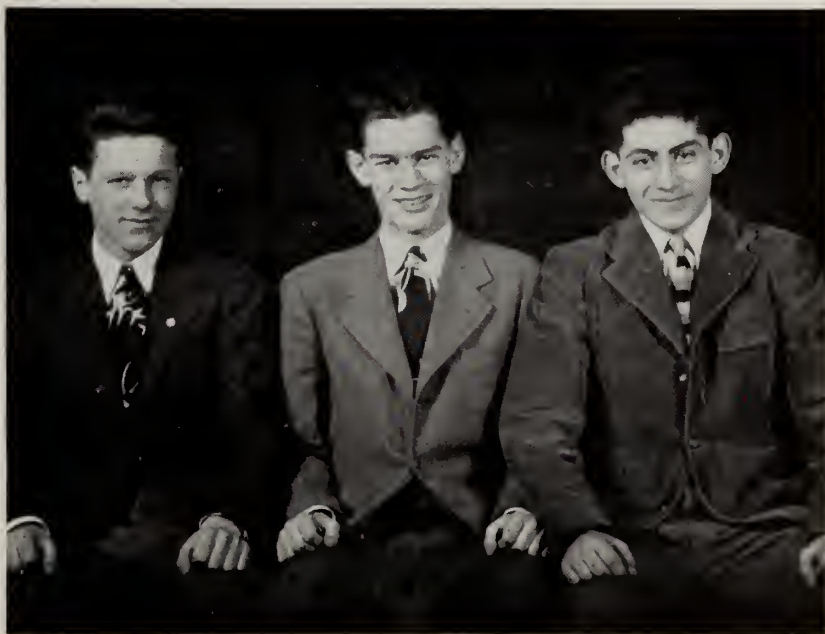

We have seen our own nation, divided in peace, become solidly united in war. From the citadel of freedom, we became the arsenal of democracy. From the isolation of the past, we emerged as the light of the future. No longer did we stand aloof from our European and Asiatic brothers, but joined with them in the gigantic task of annihilating the subduers of humanity.

Recently, we mourned the passing of a great American—a great philanthropist—Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who serves as a reminder to us that not all the casualties occur on the battlefield. The efforts and achievements of this great man in behalf of mankind, have won him the admiration and friendship of the Allied Nations.

The time is approaching when we will be ready to take our places in society. Then, it will be our duty as citizens, to promote and encourage the bond of friendship and co-operation among the nations of the world. When this spirit is universal, then, and only then, will the world have been finally freed of the dreaded scourge of war, and man can emerge from his cave of darkness to walk without fear in the light of freedom.

Into the Wild Blue Yonder

By RICHARD COHEN, '45

AS the bombers that soar into the sky on new missions in the battle torn skies, so are we of the Class of '45 off on a new and greater mission. As the pilot who has been briefed and goes to his waiting plane which is to take him into the unknown, so are we who have had our high-school training about to embark into the unknown of the future. We have our ambitions and hope that one day they will be realized. Some will go to college and others into the service. Eventually we shall all be in the service. Then if the gods of war permit, and when peace has been re-established, we shall stride toward the ultimate goal of our ambitions.

The last three years, four for some, we have spent as the pilots who enjoy a few minutes of leisure while they may. "Drink and be merry while you may," may well be their motto, for who knows what the morrow holds in store? Finally, the fun must stop; the morrow has come; a grim task is at hand. So, must we stop our play. We have been merry. The morrow has arrived. It is time to settle down to the task that life holds in store.

All of the Class of '45 must, by now, realize what is in store. The war that now rages the world over has affected each and every one of us or will eventually. These are not normal times. These are times in which we must be realistic. These are times in which boys become men over night, in which man realizes that he must fight to exist.

But to it all we can add the memories of our days at English High School. Suppose we start with the sophomore year. This was the year that we were dodos (fledglings). We walked about in a daze staring in wonderment at the huge walls and expansive corridors. We learned how to make good paper gliders and to aim straight with a piece of chalk. That year was indoctrination to the life that would soon follow.

Some how or other we managed to finish that year in one piece, with flak and all flying about. Oh yes, it was about this time that the famous spucky became a thing of the past and just a memory to all English High boys who had known it.

The following year we advanced, and rapidly caught on to basic training. This year we were all flying high, for who could keep back a junior? After all it is only one year behind senior and complete domination of the school. Thanksgiving Day of 1943 was quite different from 1942. The English-Latin game ended in a 0-0 tie which was miserable. The year before we had won 19-0, and why couldn't we do it again? Well, we couldn't.

Then there were times when some were grounded. You know, those who were so unfortunate to hear, "Why isn't your father here? You can't go to class until he comes." Or those who came in contact with the "cutsnip" or the man who said, "Follow me," and politely showed you the door. So went the year and we so full of mirth.

Then the day arrived. We marched into the familiar corridors of E. H. S. We had come a long way since the day on which we had asked where the elevators and the smoking rooms were, when we had searched high and wide for the third-floor cross corridor or wondered how a school could be so large. Instead, this year we wondered why the windows weren't clean and why the second-floor cross corridor is where it is.

So with more books under our arms we stride down the corridors. Look around at the entering class. "My, but they are small. Was I ever that small?" (Yes, you were, but you would never admit the fact.)

"Pardon me, sir," (mind the sir, imagine addressing a senior as sir), "where's Room 158." The room is right in front of him but still he doesn't see it so you send him on a merry jaunt around the building. Finally the poor boy realizes where it is.

This year saw us at the Harvard Stadium throwing an anchor about the necks of our traditional foes, the Latinites. We beat them 13-6.

Then came the occasion we had talked about day after day—the Senior Class Prom. Remember how you swam there? I had always wondered if it is at all possible to land a seaplane on Tremont Street. That night I had my answer. It rained most of the night. (I pause here in remembrance of those who went down to the street puddles in shoes.)

With that night over we went about our ways until vacation. The new year found us back within the welcoming walls of E. H. S. Even the freshmen were familiar with the good ole building.

Of course we had class elections. Mantini won with the slogan, "Use your beanie, vote for Mantini." Siegfriedt, Donaghue, Gorham, and Nobile were also elected to office.

So the time flies. Day by day we get older and supposedly wiser. Yes, we have had our good times and our bad times. Why, think, this year we had about three days off because of bad weather.

This year we witnessed the close of the first half of the greatest struggle that mankind has ever known. It is not being fought on a cool October Saturday afternoon, but on the heat and rain ridden lands and seas of the Far East. With Germany finally beaten, we are going into the second half to win a final victory. It is up to us to support this drive and if necessary, fight the battle itself.

Remember the Street Parade of our freshman year? It was rather wet as you well know. This year was just the opposite. Instead of rain, or even heat, it was cold. Imagine, if you can, rank on rank of icicles marching up Tremont Street, on Sunday, May 27th. As usual we ended up ahead of Latin in the line of march.

Now the time draws near. On June 7 we shall win our wings. We shall be able to take off on a mission into the wild blue yonder. When the day arrives, we must put behind our youth and look forward to something new. As the pilot who goes on his first mission, we shall be nervous and fearful, for the eyes of the whole crew will be upon us. We shall feel that not a slip must be made. But, even the most skilled pilots sometimes make mistakes. We'll do our best to keep our wings level and true.

Coach Ohrenberger's Final Instructions

ATHLETICS

Teams of Our Time

By DON NICOLL, '45

HERE we are at the end of our life at E. H. S. Probably the deeds of the pals of our senior year will live longest in our memories. The achievements of Bill Northridge, Jackie Bowes, Frank Driscoll, Jake Maloney, Paul Bjorklund, Matt Ruggiero, Matt Cavalini, Bob Lynch, Kent Killam, Eric Butler, Dave Krivitsky, Hersch Sternlieb, and many others will long remain as outstanding features of our schoolday activities. These have been four short years, though, in which these stars and those who did the quiet but efficient supporting of many championship teams under Coach Ohrenberger worked hard to perfect their skill. Let's look back and see just what came out of all this work. . . .

It's been a long time since we've been freshmen, hasn't it? Just think back to those days when you wandered around this ancient edifice with wonder in your eyes or read in the newspaper about the deeds of the English High athletes as you waited to graduate from that junior high school. That was the year when our football team lost a majority of its games and most sorrowfully went to defeat at the hands of B. L. S. 19-0, despite the efforts of co-captains Charlie O'Malley and Dick Kearns and the other stars of the team. This was the year our own Frank Driscoll first made the squad. This was also the first year Jake Maloney was a member of the hockey team that attained the city championship while beating Latin 2-0. Under the able leadership of Captain Gene Bossi and the many stars that hovered around him, the '41-'42 track squad captured all the meets in fine style and ran away with the Reggies. The baseball team was co-champion this year. With Co-Captain Don Stevens turning in an amazing season as pitcher and with fine support from Co-Captain Frank Sacco, the Double Blue were disappointed only by a 5-3 defeat handed out by the Purple and White.

Then came the Sophomore year. These were the days when many were just entering this noble institution. Some laughed when Bill Northridge, Jake Maloney and others aspired for the football roster. He who laughs last laughs best. That was the team that smashed all opposition with a skill we still remember. The year when the mighty Roy Norden crashed through opposing lines to lay 'em low while darting Koren Kasabian and company carried the ball to victory in the Turkey Day fest, 19-0. Captain Paul Fraher and teammates handled the puck on blades that carried them to a City Championship which happily included a setback of 2-1 for Latin. Dave Krivitsky, Hersch Sternlieb, Jim Atsales, and Paul Noble made their debut on the Track Squad that gave Captain Roland Doherty a Regimental Championship. This was also the year that Court Ellis toted himself over the bar for a third in the National High Jump Contest. John Yurewicz captained a City Champs team that slapped the old "apple" for an 18-2 slugfest over Latin.

Our Junior Year was one to remember. The nucleus of the '44-'45 teams was being formed as the squads went on to victory in true E. H. S. tradition. The football team has been called one of the greatest in English's long history. Captain Andy Kelly, Giles Powell, George Osganian, Jack Boutilier, and company came through with an undefeated, and unscored upon season, tying only with a great Latin team 0-0. Basketball started this year and had a fairly successful season. Congratulations to Coach Sullivan and the first captain of a new tradition at E. H. S., Lenny Kerr. Court Ellis led a State and Regimental Championship Track team to a truly wonderful season. The relay team of that year will long be a legend hereabouts. Baseball came with the Spring and brought joy to Coach Ohrenberger's heart. Captain Jackie Farrell, Joe Flanagan, Giles Powell, and Bill Brady outdid themselves to lead the team to a City Championship and a crushing defeat of the Purple and White, 18-2.

Then came the Senior year. Now you know the boys in 059. No longer are they plaster heroes. They're just ordinary fellows with skills that work on the field of sport. Skills that brought us a 13-6 victory at Harvard Stadium, a co-championship in basketball, Regimental champs, State Relay victory, and 5-0 hockey defeat for B. L. S. . . .

Hail and farewell to the teams of our time and the pals that made them great.

WHEN the football season came and the candidates assembled at Billings Field, Coach Ohrenberger was faced with the usual problem of breaking a huge group of candidates down into a good squad.

Led by Captain Frank Driscoll, the 1944 Football Team turned out a season of games worth remembering. It was a team that the Class of '45 can be proud of.

After their first scheduled game was rained out, the team lost a close one to a fighting Boston College High Eleven, 14-13. A combination of inexperience and slippery ball handling made it possible for the Maroon and Gold to rack up this victory. Bouncing back to prove that they could take their place with the long line of great E. H. S. teams, the Blue and Blue Boys defeated the Trade Indians, 39-0. It was a question of how many times the English gridgers could cross the goal line. The trip to Groton proved to be a disappointment to the inhabitants of Montgomery Manor as an aerial attack sank the visitors 12-0.

The final game of the season started what we hope is another tradition at English High. The historic Thanksgiving Day game was played in the ideal setting of the Harvard Stadium. Despite a season of wet weather, the gridiron was in perfect condition for the Turkey Day fest. Before a large, enthusiastic crowd, studded with the uniforms of returned alumni, the E. H. S. eleven defeated the Purple and White 13-6 in a thriller that provided enough excitement to keep the Room 059 experts talking for weeks. The big hero of the game was Captain-elect Bob Murphy, who blocked the Latin kick into the end zone, where big Paul Bjorklund landed on the pigskin for the winning score of the game. Heroes of the team were All-Scholastics Bill Northridge and Jackie Bowes, Quarterback Jackie Maloney, Half-back Bob Farrell, Fullback Don Murphy, and Linemen Matt Cavallini, Bob Murphy, Mario Di Giorgio, Captain Frank Driscoll, Matt Ruggiero and Paul Bjorklund.

Captain Francis P. Driscoll, '45, proved himself a fighting leader of a great Blue and Blue eleven. His tackle play was a standout, especially against the Purple.

THE Blue and Blue Basketeers turned out a successful season to the joy of all at the Warren Avenue Edifice. Sparked by Captain Bobby Lynch, Center Harry Bolster, Forward Kent Killam, and Guards Eric Butler and Bill Northridge, the team handed Coach Arthur J. Sullivan a record to be proud of. They were defeated only twice; once by Commerce, 26 to 21, and once by Brandeis Vocational, 36 to 31.

The victories were started with a close one against Roxbury Memorial, 32 to 30. The next was even closer when the East Boston team lost 33 to 32. Jamaica Plain was the next to fall, 64 to 25. South Boston was defeated next in a Garden thriller, 32 to 25. Charlestown, Tech, and Boston College High were the next victims to the scores of 28-18, 42-19, and 31-12, respectively. Trade was defeated 50 to 26.

A highly favored Hyde Park quintet also went down before the "giant killers" 26 to 25. Dorchester also lost under the Garden nets, 46 to 21. Brighton came next 61 to 15 and Roslindale followed, 71 to 26, with the team setting two records. The team kept the record with Latin School clean by defeating them in an overtime period, 33-31.

TRACK

THE Track squad turned out what could not be called anything but a very successful season. Captain Dave Krivitsky led the field in the 600 in the Boston Schools and came in second in the State Meet. Other leaders were Hersch Sternlieb in the 440, Bob Farrell in the 300, Matt Ruggiero in the shotput, Phil Bloomfield in the 50, and a host of others including Earl Tucker, Irving Howe, Ed Englert, Jimmie Bushmiller, Austin Roche, Henry Lesser, Paul Bjorklund, Jim Atsales, Paul MacKenzie, Al Winitzer, and Don Kunstler. Manager Ray Shaw kept things going while Coach Ohrenberger urged the team on with his sound advice and booming voice. The State Meet, while not as illustrious as last year saw another great relay team take that crown. Jimmy Pappis, Bob Farrell, Hersch Sternlieb and especially Captain Dave deserve a great hand. The first meet was a triangular affair with Roxbury Memorial and Commerce trailing 197 to '70 to 19. Latin, Trade, and Tech followed suit in the next East Armory gathering by a tally of 89-38-24-33. The last quad meet was also a Double Blue Victory with Latin, Tech, and Memorial falling again 80 to 50 to 40 to 17. The Regimentals climaxed the season as English more than doubled the score of its nearest rival, Tech, 82 to 41. There the relay picture was repeated for the final time as all three classes captured their respective races to keep the slate clean for the season. We leave best wishes for Captain-elect Bob Farrell and his teammates who will carry on in the years to come.

THE Hockey team ran up an impressive line of victories, falling only to the might of the Tech sextet. The season started as Captain Jake Maloney, Al Mahoney and Matt Cavalini sparked the team to an 8 to 2 win over Commerce. Dorchester and Memorial, also felt the pressing attack of the Blue and Blue and bucked the impassable Cav to lose 2 to 0 and 5 to 0 respectively. The following game was the bitter defeat by a fast skating Tech team whereby the Double Blue went down 4 to 0. Latin seemed jinxed in the field of athletics as the Purple and White failed to best the Boys from the Manor by a tally of 5 to 0.

BASEBALL

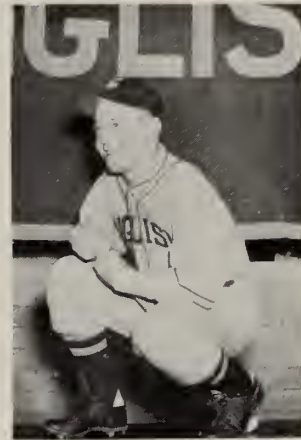

Coach Joseph F. Sheehan, under whose direction the English High nine has compiled another great season's record. "Joe's" team hits 'em hard, runs bases daringly, and always manages to have one big inning.

ON THE DIAMOND

THE 1945 baseball team is a worthy successor to the great 1944 aggregation, which will long be remembered for its hard-hitting finale against Latin School, sending the traditional rivals down to a 14 to 2 defeat.

This year's early season practice was directed by Coach Bill Ohrenberger. With his advancement to the post of assistant director of physical education for the Boston Public Schools, Coach Ohrenberger was succeeded as baseball coach here by Mr. Joseph F. Sheehan of our E.H.S. faculty. As the playing season started, Mr. Sheehan proceeded to put the E.H.S. varsity nine once again on the victory road and to keep it there.

The opener saw South Boston tasting defeat, 15-2, as the bats of the Big Blue went into action. Phil Cohen next set down Vocational in grand style by pitching a no-hitter, as his mates rapped out 12 runs while keeping the Brandeis boys scoreless; Commerce was the third victim by 11-1. English triumphed over Roslindale 10-4. over Jamaica Plain 9-3; and over Hyde Park 4-1.

Bob Farrell homered with a man on base in the ninth inning of the game with Roxbury Memorial to give E. H. S. the game, 7-6. Dorchester went down to defeat by the same score. Charlestown met a 26-5 fate. Then Medford and East Boston tripped English by scores of 7-4 and 7-3, respectively. English lost to Trade in a 5-2 contest, but our traditional rival, Latin, succumbed to Dick Lawler's twirling by a 7-2 score.

As the record indicates, Captain Jackie Maloney leads a spirited, well-coached team. Among the consistent performers are "Lefty" Galvin, Mario DiGiorgio, Dick Lawler, Al Luciano, Bob Pierre, Paul Bjorklund, Bob Farrell, Russ Mahoney, and Ray Shaw.

MILITARY DRILL

MILITARY Drill, instituted in 1864, has contributed richly to the life of our school and to the fitness of our alumni and students to serve in the armed forces of our nation . . . Military bearing, courtesy, and precision are characteristics of the true Blue and Blue . . . But the benefits realized by the officers in Senior Year are great indeed . . . One learns then how to command a platoon or a company . . . The lesson of obedience he must have previously learned in order to rise to a position of command . . .

No former officer of an English High School company could possibly glance at the following pages without experiencing all over again the toil of drilling his unit into shape for that Great Experience at the East Armory; the personal satisfaction he felt when his command exceeded his expectations . . . the sense of obligation to the boys in the ranks . . . Then the thrills of passing the reviewing stands on Street Parade Sunday . . .

The English High School Regiments throughout this eighty-first year of military drill in this school have been instructed by Major Michael J. Lannon, M.N.G.R., Captain John F. Donahue, M.S.G., and Lieutenant Francis J. O'Donnell, C.E., A.U.S. Lt. O'Donnell succeeded Captain Donahue when the latter was called into active service in the United States Army . . . To these three efficient and conscientious officers and to their predecessors during our underclassmen years, we owe whatever military advancement we may have made . . . We feel that they have schooled us thoroughly in the fundamentals of the life we shall be called upon to enter soon after June 7.

The records to date bear the names of forty-six hundred sons of The English High School who are serving in the armed forces in the present conflict . . . in the defense of our nation . . . in the cause of humanity itself . . . that a new order of justice and charity may prevail throughout the world . . . We of the Class of 1945 salute Fighting English!

A black and white photograph of a military band. In the foreground, eight musicians are seated in two rows, holding their instruments. Behind them, a large American flag is being held up by several people. The background shows trees and a brick building.

God of our fathers, bless this, our flag of freedom and of peace; and these, Thy sons, born under its guardian folds, who love it, and who shall defend it, now and forevermore.

Commemoration Ode

Mother of men, renew in us thy will,
Breathe through us all the spirit that is thine,
We would be faithful soldiers, keeping still
Our purpose firm, our spirit strong and fine.
We know toward what high goals our feet should press.

Thy sons have shown the way; their nobleness
Shall stir our own. With souls uplifted high,
"The utmost for the highest" as our cry,
We take the burden on our shoulders laid,
We take the task that to our hands is given.
In vain shall these have fought, in vain have striven,

If we prove recreant; but unafraid
Our hearts shall front the future. We must care
For these high freedoms, won with blood and tears

By these thy sons. And whether coming years
Bring peace or clanging war,
All that we have and are
We pledge to thee, O Wonderful and Fair,
Our Country! Show thy need and we will dare!

Charles H. Stone, Jr.

YEARBOOK STAFF

IN the January, 1945, issue of The Record, there appears an editorial captioned "As We Begin Work on the Yearbook." What optimists we were back there in January! Every man on the staff is now ready to admit that we should have begun work on the Yearbook an entire year earlier. Right now, it's plates and proofs, scissors and paste. Ye Editor now goes about ye corridors talking to himself in a spirit of bafflement, but as certain as rationing is to be one day lifted, so too with this Yearbook. It will out, eventually.

Anyway, classmates, we told you then, what we still feel to be the truth about yearbooks. We said: "Yearbooks do not merely happen; they are planned carefully. They depend for their success upon the individual and collective contributions of the students primarily benefiting from having an appropriately edited and permanently bound, complete and vivid history of their class. Since the yearbook represents the school, it must present the best aspects of school life; since the publication is one for the library shelf, it must catch and hold for all time the spirit and tone of English High School as it is today."

To Karle F. Siegfriedt, our vice-president, and to his fellow officers and the loyal rank and file of the Class of '45, the Yearbook Staff says, "Thanks for your co-operation, your encouragement, and your good nature." To each of our faculty advisers, each member of the Staff pays a little silent tribute all his own.

THE RECORD

IN October, 1885, The Record came into the life of English High School as the official paper of the school. This year marks the sixtieth anniversary.

Through the years, the format has been changed many times; not so, however, with the fundamental purpose of The Record as announced in its very first editorial: "To increase the loyalty to the English High School."

The year 1944-1945 has witnessed the forced suspension of many school publications because of war conditions. However, The Record, under the extremely capable and conscientious leadership of Milton R. Stern, '45, as its editor-in-chief, has striven to carry on in the service of the school and its alumni.

As in 1944, The Record has been awarded Medalist Rating in the annual national competition for high-school magazines under the aegis of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association of Columbia University.

In addition, The Record for 1945 has been awarded the Victory Star Certificate "for achieving distinction in the field of student journalism in patriotic support of the war effort of the United States of America."

The graphic arts as they are employed in printing have been given prominence this year, once again. We acknowledge with deep appreciation the services of our own Record photographers and those of the Purdy Company, of the craftsmen of the engraving firm of Donovan & Sullivan, and of the Warren Press.

Contract matters with the printer and with the engraver are taken care of by the faculty advisers acting together. Circulation is the direct work of the business staff itself. This year, more than 1200 copies of The Record have been ordered and paid for by the pupils of the school prior to the actual date of the publication of each issue.

Advertising is contracted for by the advertising manager, acting for the school. This year, as in the past, Boston businessmen have been extremely generous in the amount of their advertising shared with the various school publications of Boston.

Hitherto, The Record business staff has had the duty of financing and distributing the Yearbook. This year, however, marks a departure from this custom. The Yearbook, in its literary and financial aspects has been regarded as properly a senior-class function. Two of the senior members of the business staff of The Record have accepted full responsibility for the financial success of the Yearbook. Under the able direction of Mr. Robert M. Evans, Edward E. Tolson, '45, and Karle F. Siegfriedt, '45, have secured the hundreds of subscriptions necessary to guarantee the Yearbook financially.

CAMERA CLUB

MR. WALLACE M. CLARK of the mathematics department has led the Camera Club through another profitable and eventful year. The boys under his leadership have worked steadily to develop their photographing technique. The camera and the urge to learn its use is the tie that binds the enthusiastic membership of the Camera Club together. There is no city in the country that offers a greater variety of spots dear to a photographer's heart than does Boston.

In the heart of the city, in Room 311, the boys delve into the mysteries of photography each Wednesday and Thursday at 2:30. Correct printing, developing and enlarging methods have been studied and discussed. Several members of the club are also Record cameramen. The splendid football action shots and group photographs, with which the Record has been illustrated for several years, are in main the result of the camera skill of these members.

ORCHESTRA

THE English High School orchestra in its fifty-seventh year again welcomed Mr. Trongone, its fourth conductor. The orchestra seemed to play with more than traditional skill this year at the assemblies. Any boy of musical ability is eligible for the orchestra, whether or not he has had previous orchestral training. It is noteworthy that few members of the orchestra have had any previous training before entering this school.

A conductor of Mr. Trongone's skill and experience is vitally necessary to any fine orchestra, and individual training is greatly enhanced when a conductor like him directs. Unit playing is recognized as good background even for those who aspire to solo work.

The last appearance of the orchestra before the Class of 1945 will be at Tremont Temple on graduation night, June 7.

GLEE CLUB

THE Glee Club under the direction of Mr. T. Francis Burke meets every Tuesday in the Assembly Hall. The boys have improved their music reading that they may delight the musical ears of the student body and faculty. They may develop their knowledge of music in a concordant congregation which is yet not too large to preclude individual attention to the members.

Though the Glee Club has long flourished, this is generally acknowledged to have been one of its best years. Its popularity has been evident at many assemblies.

The Glee Club has aided the music-loving boys of our school not only in developing their own musical abilities, but also in gaining greater appreciation of vocal art and its masters.

THE Student Council is the intermediary between the student body and the faculty. This year the council has performed all its duties with its usual commendable competency and deserved success. This assemblage materially eases the passing of the four long years of blood, sweat, and tears necessary for graduation.

Room councilors, who have been elected by the student body, in turn elect from their own ranks the members of the council. In this body are sixteen members, four each from the freshman, the sophomore, the junior and the senior classes. Mr. Elliott P. Frazier of the science department presides at any and all meetings.

The group has charge of honor button distribution and promotion of school welfare, as well as the junior and senior elections.

The senior class gives to you a multitude of thanks for your splendid work. May English High always have as fine a Student Council.

THE FORUM

THE Forum, with Mr. Ralph F. V. Quinn as adviser has enjoyed an interesting year. For sometime this club has languished in obscurity but its new members have revitalized it. A goodly number of would-be debaters mobilize within the confines of Room 106 every week to develop their skill. In actual practice only the more advanced speakers do the actual debating, but the others lend invaluable support in research work.

Our members have developed, by earnest and steady interest, ease and lucidity in public speaking. The logical and concise clarity of thought of the members should give us first-class statesmen in the years to come.

THOSE LIGHT BLUE STARS

OF course, you have seen them . . . those boys stationed throughout the building . . . wearing the dark blue armband with two light blue stars:

For many years the student patrol at English High School has functioned efficiently and quietly. This patrol means much to the student body and to the school as a whole, signifying the fitness and the maturity of the boys who composed the school to contribute immeasurably to the successful conduct of school affairs. It is a democratic participation in a great democratic school, exemplifying in action the American Way.

Boys who comprise the patrol are selected for qualities of leadership. Trained as military drill officers, each boy on the patrol holds a commissioned rank on the staff of a school regiment, with indirect affiliation with a company of the line.

There is a Head Master's aide in each block of the school program. The command post in the school office is in charge of a second captain, with direct communications to Major Lannon in the drill hall.

The two light blue stars on the dark blue field are said to represent Honor and Achievement, the incentives which the old school has always kept before her sons as the worthiest.

SWITCHBOARD OPERATORS

THIS year the Switchboard Operators, under the skillful direction of Mr. William J. Hayes, manager of this service, have again given meritorious service to the school. In order to perform their duties, these boys surrender much of their own time. The work is exceedingly responsible, requiring infinite patience and co-ordination.

The operators have the occasion to employ the fundamentals of good pronunciation and good speech. They handle the interroom telephone system. In a few seconds one teacher may contact another in a distant part of the building, saving time and effort. The switchboard crew also answers outside calls referring the party to the proper informant. Ready to serve and courteous, these boys are essential to the proper functioning of the school.

Second Row: Gerald L. Sher, '47; Gerhard Gluck, '47; Joseph G. Taylor, '46; Paul J. Egan, '47; Donald A. Carrigan, '46; Sidney Golder, '45
Front Row: David L. Caplan, '47; Donald M. Sundland, '45; Tin Sun Chin, '47; Richard H. Lent, '45; Edmund Cotter, '47; Elliot M. Perman, '45

AMONG the intelligentsia of our school the members of the E. H. S. Chess Club are noteworthy. Every Wednesday afternoon they lunge to their places behind the chess boards to engage each other in combat. The thirty-four members comprise a group larger than that of any of the other high-school clubs in Boston. The regular meetings, under the direction of Mr. Henry A. Black as faculty adviser, have been well attended and have produced outstanding players.

Alma Mater, tried and true,
English High, Our English High
Oft our hearts may turn to you,
English High, our English High
Should e'er the laurel wreath be mine
I'll lay the honor at thy shrine,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers are thine,
English High, Our English High.

“The lessons garnered from her love
Still in our hearts remain;
We’ll strive to make our actions prove
They were not learned in vain.
And living worthy of her light
In us that light shall shine,
And keep her name a presence bright
In thoughts of Auld Lang Syne!”
